

VAN AERT

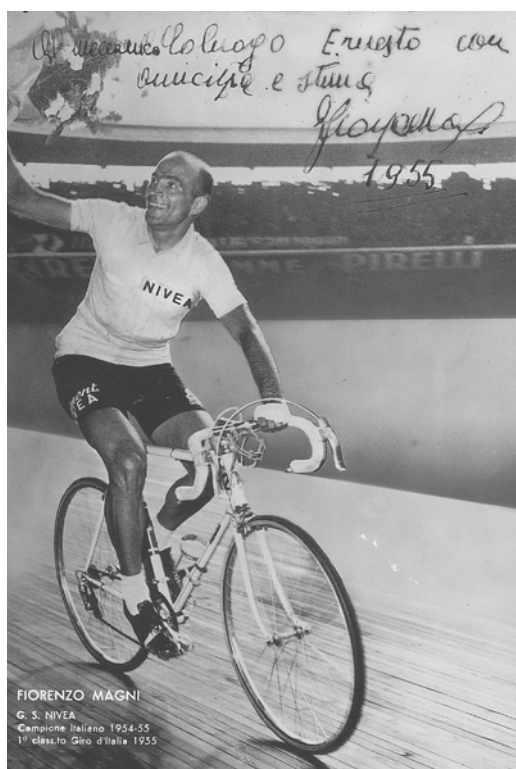

After a long hard season, Wout Van Aert got a solid second position at Sluitingsprijs Oostmalle international Cyclocross. After a quick start of the race with a lot of attacks, the race victory went to Kewin Pauwels. Another great result for an unforgettable racing season!

DID YOU KNOW THAT....

At the start of 1955, Fiorenzo Magni (called "the lion of Flanders", three straight win from 1949 to 1951) was struggling with chronic knee pain that was threatening to derail his racing career when Colnago persuaded his brilliant compatriot to allow him to tinker with his bike. Colnago had been the only mechanic to spot an uneven drive train and felt that it might have been causing the problem. When Magni's pain disappeared on the repaired bike, he offered Colnago the role of mechanic on his Giro team that year. Magni went on to win his third Giro title and Colnago's reputation among the peloton was sealed.
