Icons of cycling: Colnago C40

The potential of carbon-fibre as a superior material for bike frames was recognised in the late eighties, but it wasn't until the arrival of the Colnago C40 in 1994 that it was actually proven. With the carbon-lugged construction of the C40 — 'C' for carbon and '40' to commemorate Colnago's 40th year in business — Ernesto Colnago solved the problem of how to make a carbon frame durable enough to win the toughest cobbled Classics yet light enough to soar up Alpine cols. The current top model, the C60, still uses the legendary carbon-lugged design and, like its predecessor, is still handmade in Cambiago.
